This Is How the Money Goes

In the language of the HOUSE, they call them “crews.” The HOUSE is that manufacturer or jobber who, nine times out of ten, is dealing in inferior merchandise—shoddy materials—poorly made—and sold under questionable tactics, misrepresentation—and shady dealings. The crew is usually made up of misfits, glib talkers—long promises and the criminally inclined who hate honest labor. The idea is to take shoddy merchandise into thriving communities and by “high pressure” tactics, take the money AWAY.

We have seen them leaving St. Cloud on more than one occasion, the crew boss and his gang—not one of which very many of us would invite into our homes—and trust them there. Breezing out of town—to the next city—we must seem awfully dumb and easy to them—as they divide the swag—a hundred, or two or three hundred dollars of our good money.

Compare this crowd with the merchants of St. Cloud. Which would you call on, expecting help, in time of trouble? You need not answer. We think we know. Likewise the mail order house which sends its bulky catalogue into this territory. How much CITY, County or State TAX does it pay? How much does it contribute to the upbuilding of this city and territory? Answer yourself a few of these questions—and we think you will add your mite to those of our loyal citizens who practice loyalty by supporting home stores, industries and institutions, and, who find that just as good merchandise at just as low prices, with just as wide a range of selection is to be had right here AT HOME.

The Editor.

COMMISSIONERS HAD RATHER ROUTINE MEETING

All members of the board of county commissioners were present at the meeting Monday, together with Clerk J. L. Overstreet and Attorney Ellis F. Davis.

After the minutes of previous meetings were read, the matter of releasing Steel & Son on a bond given some months ago for road work, was taken up.

An order from the contractors to pay the Florida National Bank $45,000 out of moneys due the contractor, when such funds are available out of the sale of the $120,000 bond issue now on appeal litigation in the supreme court, was accepted and placed on record.

The matter of expending remaining funds in road district No. 3 was left to the discretion of Commissioner Ames, in whose district the roads are located covered by the special road district.

An offer was received from taxpayers in the eastern part of the county to fill the pond from Tyson Creek to Deer Park in possible condition for $200.

After some discussion, the board agreed to pay McDonald & Bergman Co. the freight on road machinery sent to Kennesville, which was not prepaid after tests, as part reimbursement for the company's trouble.

The board considered the application of J. W. Birt of Kithmonia for entrance to the vocational school for cripples, which is to be operated under an act of the recent legislature.

A committee of the board was appointed to confer with Mr. Richard on Alligator Lake about a right of way for state road No. 26, which passes through the property occupied by Mr. Richards.

Checks were issued for all current bills, which had been audited and approved at the special meeting last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Austin spent Sunday evening with the Phillips before returning to Orlando. Mrs. Austin entertained the company with silent music in an admirable manner.

Commenting on the sermon and song services, the following article by the Auburndale News of October 7th is reproduced below:

"One of the most solemn services ever witnessed in Auburndale was the one at the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon when Frank E. Phillip, superintendent of the Florida Mission for the Deaf, delivered a sermon, the Belsuzzer's Feast, in the sign language of the deaf.

"Nearly thirty deaf people from various neighboring cities were present and all enjoyed a pleasant social hour after the benediction, and it was quite interesting to watch these silent people with a smile of happiness on every face, chatting and laughing with each other, and we were brought all the more face to face with the fact that after all happiness is merely a matter of making the best of whatever condition we are thrown in.

OCTOBER WEATHER IN FLORIDA

By Alexander J. Mitchell (Jacksonville Journal)

October, like April, is a period of weather transition. The sun, the chief source of weather control, crossed the celestial equator at 8 p. m. September 23...

posed for a sufficient length of time. Precautions during October, however, are rarely required.

Rainfall

The average rainfall during October for the same period, was 4.34 inches. The greatest average rainfall during October was 19.82 inches in 1924...

The geographical location of Florida is adjacent to, or within the tract of, those disturbances which originate in the doldrums—the region of frequent rains and continued heat of low latitudes...

Such storms are sometimes referred to as "Florida's hurricanes"—a gratifying statement, little less applicable to New York than to Florida...

As April notes the passing of winter—a term used relatively in this latitude, and its vagaries; so does October bring the assurance of the near approach of brighter days and stimulating temperatures...

BEAUTY A TOWN'S ASSET

In spite of the apparent commercialism of the age in which we live, it is evident to any observer that the American people are rapidly developing a greater appreciation of the beautiful...

New towns and new sections of the older ones are being laid out with wider streets, with provision for shrubbery and flowers, and a more attractive setting generally.

New houses show better architecture and greater harmony with their surroundings, while unsightly yard fences have largely disappeared.

Beautiful cities, towns and villages attract people. They attract permanent residents, they attract tourists and they attract trade.

Therefore, it behooves the authorities of any community, as well as each individual citizen, to make the most of their opportunities for improving the appearance of the place in which they live.

Properties contained in oranges give to the human body vitamins and good food values, and "make for strength, endurance, firm muscles, a clear mind and a bright eye," according to Dr. Herman N. Bushman...

P. T. A. MEETING WAS FULL OF ACTION MONDAY NIGHT

The Parent-Teacher Association met at the Vermont avenue building Monday evening with a good attendance. The time of meeting was changed to 7:30.

Mrs. Long and Mrs. Lelloy Lackey were appointed an auditing committee to check the books of the lunch room department and report at the next meeting. This department provides an appetizing and substantial mid day meal for the children for the small sum of ten cents.

On Friday evening, October 21, an entertainment will be held at the Senior high school auditorium. Miss Steinhilber of Kissimmee, a reader of ability, and a vocalist, will make this an evening of enjoyment to all and it is hoped many will be present.

Monday night's program was furnished by the W. C. T. U. who held a school session on the commendable steps. About 15 scholars whose ages were more than 10 and less than 16, under the leadership of Mrs. L. M. Parker who made an able school-teacher, recited lessons relating to Christian citizenship. The attention of the audience was closely held throughout the session.

On Monday evening, October 24, everybody and their relations and their friends are invited to the Parent-Teachers Association Halloween party at the High school auditorium. This is to take the form of a Hard Times Social. The gentlemen wearing neckties will be fined, as also will be the ladies wearing silk dresses. Bring sandwiches for your family and something in a covered dish. If convenient wear a mask. If not come anyway, as this is one of the events of the season.

A number of the P. T. A. members are planning to attend the district P. T. A. meeting at Orlando Friday of this week.

DANIEL E. PROPER DIED AT MELBOURNE

Friends here will regret to learn of the death at Melbourne on October 7, of Daniel E. Proper, for a number of years a resident of St. Cloud. The deceased had made Melbourne his home for the past seven years.

Mr. Proper had been ill for several weeks, and while his death was not unexpected, still it was a great shock to his wide host of friends and relatives. He was born in Kingston, N. Y., 56 years ago but moved to St. Cloud a few years after the city was founded, where he made many friends. Upon moving to Melbourne he entered the real estate business and there likewise enjoyed a large number of friends.

Funeral services were held from the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. S. V. Coffield officiating, following which the body was laid to rest in the Melbourne cemetery.

NOW'S THE TIME TO PLANT

R. A. Crawford has a ample supply of plants for many gardens and truckers in the community, including tomatoes, Hot King peppers and Black Beauty egg plants.

These are now ready for transplanting and Mr. Crawford is ready to make deliveries at his location on North Minnesota avenue between 5th and 9th streets.

HOLOPAW BOXING SATURDAY

Thirty rounds of boxing and slugging are carded for Holopaw Saturday evening, the main event being a ten round bout between Battling Dave of Holopaw and Kid Willie of Vero Beach. They are light heavy weights.

Special seats have been provided for whites and popular prices will prevail. It is said.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Sunday evening the pastor will speak upon the topic "Should the Church Unite." The question has been agitated for years but has never been so widely discussed as in the years following the World War. The next man is on tip-toe whenever there is a gathering like that of the Lutheran Conference, looking to the uniting of the ranks of Christendom. The young people of today speak out unhesitatingly upon the subject heedless of the condemnations of the conservative sectarians. The public is invited to hear Dr. Hyndman's address on this subject.

Morning and evening services will be held at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. respectively. There will be special music at each service.

A new class in the Sunday school has been organized to take care of young people who are above high school age. The class will meet regular at the usual Sunday school hour for class instruction and will hold weekly meetings every Monday evening in connection with the newly formed Young People's club. Membership in the club will be open to all young people who are connected with the Sunday school in anyway.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies Aid this week, Mrs. Knoll was elected president.

The Unity Circle of the Aid, Mrs. Blackman, president, will hold Bazaar at the church parlors on Wednesday, November 10th. The Senior Circle and the Livingston club have arranged to co-operate.

The Senior Circle will hold a chicken dinner on November 1st.

MICHIGANDERS MEET

About thirty happy Michiganders met on Wednesday of last week for the last picnic of the summer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bullard. Eight soldiers were present and their combined ages were 674 years with an average of 83 and one-fourth years. After listening to several pieces of music on the viola by Mr. Abbott and his son, a little time was spent in song and a volunteer program.

Mr. Goff and Mr. Bullard sang "Michigan, My Michigan," the audience joining with them, and "We Are the Boys, the Old Army Boys."

Mrs. Riley, "The Remedy." Reading, Mr. Goff, "A Tyen That Has Nothing To Do In A Public Way Is On Its Way to the Cemetery."

Reading, Mrs. Bullard, "A Reminiscer That'd Id Ago Has Nothing To Do With It."

Reading, Miss Loomis, "Just Bristle Up and Grit Your Teeth and Keep Up On Keeping On."

Song, Mrs. Cooley, "And Sister Crys For Bread."

Mrs. Riley told of a circumstance which she knew over 50 years ago of to death on the bank of Walled Lake a man who was a drinker was frozen.

Mr. Goff gave us the history of a man whom he knew who was a drinking man.

Mr. Perkins gave a recitation in honor of the dear name of Custer. Adjourned to meet at the park the first Wednesday in November. Frances H. Riley, Secretary.

FLORIDA MONEY COMING

With initial shipment of citrus fruits now moving from Florida to northern markets and winter vegetables being planted and those now growing promising good yields, the 1917-28 season promises to return real money to Florida industry.

EASTERN STAR IN KISSIMMEE

A group of the members of St. Cloud chapter of Eastern Star with their worthy Matron Mrs. A. P. Clark, are attending a school of instruction in Kissimmee today with other members of this district. A luncheon will be served at noon by the Kings Daughters class of the Methodist Episcopal church, and in the evening those attending the school of instruction will be guests at a banquet.

Join the Tribune family.

LADIES IMPROVEMENT CLUB

The Ladies Improvement club held its first regular meeting of the season at the library on October 5, a fair number of members and visitors being present.

The new programs were distributed and much praise was given to the chairman, Mrs. Dawley, for her work and the beauty of the booklet.

After the usual business was disposed of the chair turned the meeting over to the W. C. T. U. which conducted a school in citizenship. It was both interesting and instructive. Mrs. Bennett, the teacher, had her pupils well drilled in their lessons.

The library is now open to the public each afternoon and evening, with the exception of Wednesday afternoons, which time is reserved for club work. Hours 1:00 to 5:00 p. m. and 7:00 to 9:00 p. m.

The next meeting will be held on October 19 and will be a political meeting in charge of Mrs. Roy Lackey, the roll call, state officers and salary. Everyone is welcome to our meetings. Press Correspondent.

ORLANDO STARTS A BETTER BUSINESS SENTIMENT

ORLANDO, Oct. 12.—A definite movement has been started in Orlando to create a better business feeling on the part of the general public and to make the permanent resident of Florida and the world outside have a better opinion of our state.

"Building for a greater Florida" campaign is the name that has been chosen for the movement, and while it will not follow any of the ordinary lines of professional promotion involving the raising of funds for administrative and advertising expenses, the sponsors of the move are planning an intensive campaign to increase the opinion of Florida people.

In advocating the idea that Florida folks should be more optimistic about the future of Florida, the Yowell-Drew Company, owners of the largest department store in Central Florida, has placed the large resources of its organization and its business influence into the campaign. A series of letters, written to prominent men in various parts of America, have brought to the Yowell-Drew Company some interesting communications. These are being published in editorial form in space purchased by the company in Orlando newspapers.

The letters thus far published, or seen to be published, are from such prominent individuals as Governor John W. Martin, United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Amos Parvish, merchandise expert of New York, Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers' Record, Bernard Lubenberg, president of the Alexander Hamilton Institute of New York, S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, J. B. Keady, president of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen and Roger W. Babson.

An excellent example of the contents of one of the Yowell-Drew Company's editorial advertisements is found in the letter of S. Davies Warfield who says:

"If the people will get to work that live in Florida or are interested in Florida, taking advantage of a marvelous climate, a marvelous soil, wonderful transportation conditions and stick to it, you and I and everyone else will see what the future has in store for Florida."

It is planned one day next week to have everybody in Orlando wear a "Building for a Greater Florida" campaign emblem and to spread the tidings of Florida's bright future throughout Central Florida, extending the idea to include the entire state.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bookhout, whose beautiful winter home is located on Indiana Avenue and Eighth street, have returned from Onsetta, N. Y., where they spent the summer. The Bookhouts own a summer home in Onsetta.

GIVE THE FARM WOMAN ELECTRIC POWER AND SOLVE OUR FARMING PROBLEMS

NOTED BANKER AND ECONOMIST POINTS TO SOLUTION OF COMPLEXITIES NOW WITHIN REACH OF SOUTHERN GROWERS AND AGRICULTURAL ENTERPRISES

Declaring that the farm woman is the crux of the South's agricultural problem and that the extension of electric power to our farms to provide the comforts and conveniences of modern home life to the farm woman while converting farm men from mere existents into profit earning business men, is an outstanding economic necessity in a program of agricultural reorganization.

seems to be a feeling that they do not wish to be the people of the towns and the cities. Let the farmer be proud of the fact that he is a farmer. Let your legislative program at all times include in it the basic thought that agriculture is fundamental and must not be overlooked.

"The farm woman after all is the crux of the agricultural problem. Give her through the extension of electric power the comforts and conveniences enjoyed by the city woman and there will be less disposition on her part to want to leave the farm. No one except a country woman who was born and raised on the farm can appreciate the drudgery of the average farmwoman and how little she gets out of life.

Mr. Lever, co-author with former Senator Hobe Smith of Georgia, of the Smith-Lever Bill, which is responsible for the county farm agent and home demonstration agent who are performing monumental service to the farmers of the nation, has won international fame as a student of farm economics. He draws on the fundamentals of southern agriculture, therefore, are worthy of the most earnest consideration.

"Next in importance among the assets of this section, after education, are our tremendous water power resources. Power is the keystone of the future. Power, electric power, hydroelectric power, is the advance agent of civilization. Perhaps the greatest contribution to mankind ever made was that of Volta when he demonstrated the electric spark, next in importance being Edison's contribution in the way of showing how to transmit power over long distances.

The following paragraphs, taken from Mr. Lever's remarkable address, are worthy of the most careful reading and reference purposes by all those interested in getting at the bottom of the complex problems confronting the American farmer.

"The full utilization of our power resources is to be about a new day in the South. In this connection may I divert for a moment to say that the power, the water power, of all the states east of the Mississippi River and south of Mason and Dixon's line belongs to all of the people of each of the states! The power being developed near Columbia, S. C., is as much the power of Atlanta as being developed near Columbia, S. C., and if we are wise, as we look far into the future we shall insist on the doctrine that our rivers with their great latent power belong to no one state but to all the states.

"Of course our greatest inside asset is our unmatched soil resources. Agriculture is and will continue to be the chief business of our people. What we want to do with respect to this is to get the proper leadership to industrialize it, to cut out of it its inefficiency and to make it a business that is as attractive to brains and capital as is any other business. Agriculture is looked upon too much as something out of which to make a living. We want to make it a something out of which to make a profit. We want the standard of living of the farmer just as high as, if not a little higher than, the standard of living of our city resident.

"The theory advanced by short-sighted statesmen that Muscle Shoals, for example, belongs to Alabama is ridiculous just as the thought that the prime purpose of the development of Muscle Shoals is to produce cheap nitrates is equally ridiculous. Muscle Shoals has already sent its power when most needed into the Carolinas. That enterprise ought to be developed along the line of making a great super-power enterprise with the production of nitrates as a minor key in the program. The dilly-dallying of congress for ten years in the disposition of Muscle Shoals amounts to almost a legislative crime. Who shall develop it is not the great question. The thing to do is to develop it. Let the baby be born and get over with the agency.

"I am teaching my boy and my girl to be proud of the fact that they live upon the farm. The country community, the farm homes, have given to our nation its greatest statesmanship and yet among country people there quite measure up socially and other-

EDUCATIONAL VALUE OF THE FAIRS STRESSED

By Spuds Johnson

Fair time is just about here in parts of Florida. Pretty soon farm families will be quitting work for the day, loading up the old fiver and going to town to see the fair.

When I was a kid the greatest attractions about the fair were found along the mid-way. The ferris wheel, the whip, the mechanical horse, the wild man, the snake eater and the vendors of soft drinks, entabes and chances often were a good many nickels richer after I had passed along.

Of course I usually went through the exhibit buildings, but it was not often that I saw anything as interesting as the things along the mid-way. Fairs are put on for a purpose, and that purpose is not primarily the selling of hot foods, cold drinks, riding thrills, chances, etc. Of course it is great to get away from the humdrum existence of the farm, go into town and mill around with the crowds along the mid-way. This gives people of the farm a chance to get some amusement and entertainment, and goodness knows they don't get any too much of either.

However, the prime object of fairs, and their excuse for being, is their educational value. Fairs are intended to show the products of a community, county, section, or state.

Like nearly every other form of education, however, that supplied by the fairs requires some study. When we look over the exhibits, we should study them. The products exhibited have been grown by people in our own people probably do not have a great deal better chance than we do on our own farms. They have naturally put their most perfect specimens on exhibit, but that enables us to study the best types of crops, and try to grow our like them another year. When judging is going on in the livestock ring, we can often get valuable tips from the judge about the best type animals, and why he considers a certain type best.

It adds spice to the fair if we have
